DATA PROTECTION ACT, 2020

Since the implementation of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), there has been a race amongst territories in the Caribbean to enforce data protection legislation. The Data Protection Act, 2020 was passed by the Government of Jamaica in June 2020.

The two-year transition period for data controllers to take the necessary steps to ensure full compliance with the requirements under the Act commenced on December 1, 2021, and will expire on November 30, 2023.

WE CAN HELP

We will develop a custom JDPA Privacy Gap & Risk Assessment to help your organization document and understand what gaps exist.

The Findings Report will provide you with a set of specific and prioritized recommendations based on identified risks/gaps.

The Readiness Program culminates with a Findings & Review session to discuss the Program's current state, best practices, and opportunities for improvement.
